Deacon Jeff's Corner

During the month of November, the Church remembers (and celebrates) the Holy Souls in Purgatory. The concept of Purgatory is largely misunderstood by most everyone; Protestants and Evangelicals don't even believe in it, and Catholics get very confused thinking about it. Maybe a little narrative may help you understand Purgatory a bit more.

Growing up, Purgatory was explained to me by priests and religious sisters as a "place" where you will burn for a certain amount of time due to all the sins you committed on earth. Not a very pleasant thought, especially when you are 7, 8, 9 years old. Having studied this topic for a few years and completing my Master's degree with a thesis paper on it, I hope to explain this briefly and simply.

Purgatory is not a "place", but rather a state of being. Immediately following our earthly death, we are judged by God. We have seen God and during this judgement, seen what absolute Love is. To be able to see this Love, then be removed from it, hurts our heart and soul, because we want so badly to be together with this Love (God). God has judged this soul worthy of Heaven for eternity, but to be in Heaven, we need to be perfect. Purgatory is simply the purification of our souls.

One big question that comes with this is, "How long are we in Purgatory?" Once we leave our human existence, we are no longer part of time as we know it, so to explain how long is beyond our comprehension. One thing that is known is that we cannot pray for ourselves, but others in Heaven and on Earth can pray for us, so please allow me to offer a few suggestions to pray for your loved ones.

During the Mass, when the bread becomes the Body of Christ, and the wine the Blood of Christ, ask Jesus through these miracles to bring a soul to Heaven. You can even mention someone in particular, if you would like. You can also pray a Rosary for the souls in Purgatory. Some of the saints, such as St. Faustina, were able to see Purgatory during their time on earth and they have detailed their experience. Some of the saints have said that many of the people you will meet in Heaven are people you helped to pray there!

This is a complicated topic, and this brief writing certainly doesn't do it justice. All you have to remember is this: Always pray for the ones in your life who you care for; God will take care of the rest!

Deacon Jeff

Jesus Will Not Be Outdone In Generosity
by Deacon Dennis

This time of the year, it seems we get requests from many non-profit missions to help the sick, the poor, the homeless, and the list goes on. The people of Prince of Peace have always responded to the call that we are asked to make, not only for donations, but also for support of our time and our talent. Our Thanksgiving food drive has started, we just completed our Box of Joy for children of third world countries and the Christmas season is just weeks away. When Ann and I are asked to help or we receive a request for a donation we generally always attempt to respond favorably. However, you know as well as I, that it is impossible to respond to all requests.

In today's gospel, we are shown two examples of reverence or charity. The scribes like to look and act reverent but as we know, looks can be deceiving. Jesus tells us that they will receive condemnation and justice will be handed to them for their actions and treatment of others. The second example is the poor widow who gives both of her coins to the treasury, displaying true charity and withholding nothing from God. My guess is she also supplied many, many prayers for the treasury beneficiaries. Jesus knew and witnessed the difference in the scribes' willingness to give and love others from the heart and in the poor widow giving all she had and her willingness to share her heart, to share her love to help others.

Maybe we hold onto our assets and savings too tightly. Maybe we prefer to spend our free-time, the little some may have, for things we want to do and with people we enjoy to do it with. Realize that Jesus is happy to receive what we can offer and He promises to give us all that we need in repayment.

The generosity shown by the poor widow in the gospel and the widow who is planning to prepare her last meal for herself and her son in our first reading, can provide us with a great model of unselfishness. Jesus gave the ultimate when it comes to giving of one-self. He not only offered himself for our sins, but He also stands before God, willing to plead for us on our behalf. Jesus will not be outdone in generosity. If we can be just a tiny bit as generous as Jesus, let us not look for reward, but carry out our responsibilities as best we can and place the rest in God's hands.
